Increase in regulations cause closure of FBC daycare

By ROBERT PIERCE
Leader & Times

The school year is scheduled to end later this month, and a new school year will begin in mid-August.

Hollow children head back to school, though, some local parents will have to find a new place to take their younger children.

The daycare heart of Liberal's First Baptist Church is closing its doors for the foreseeable future due to new state regulations.

The center set to be closed on Aug. 2 will be the first in Southwest Kansas to have a children-centered facility that is not instituted by governmental agencies. The change is due to new rules initiated by the board's state.
