

Erick Orozco shows some style Thursday evening at the skate park in Mary Frame Park. Orozco and his friends pointed out some of the parts of the skating area that have become issues, from broken welds in the sheet metal to rotten wood for the bench. Since this is all they have on the south end of town, the kids are not complaining. They just hope improvements are made soon. They said this park is still a good place for the youth to get together and enjoy their sport. L&T photo/Chris Linenbroker
