

State Representative Reid Petty will be at Spencer Brownes Coffee House from 9 to 10 a.m. in Liberal Saturday to discuss and get input from citizens on a final tax plan and budget that the legislature is working on.

The House rejected the Senate's tax plan today 109-5, so the House will adjourn until after the Memorial Day holiday and come back on Tuesday to reopen talks on the tax plan. The budget won't be voted on until a tax plan is passed. Petty encourages citizens who have questions or concerns about the final tax plan or state budget to come by tomorrow morning or email him at reid.petty@house.ks.gov.
