Special to the Leader & Times

Yucca Ridge Golf Club hosted its seventh annual GloBall night golf tournament June 22.

Despite hot, windy conditions the club had a nice turnout for the event with 10 two-person teams playing in the tournament. Golfers teed off for the scramble event around 6:30 p.m. and finished up the first nine holes as the sun was setting.

After a break for a barbeque dinner and a brief wait for the “Super Moon” to rise, the golfers headed out to start the night round under the brightest full moon people had ever seen.

“The moonlight this year made for some of the best conditions we've had for several years,” Superintendent Trent Kitch said.

The team of Richard Blake and Gary Rash equaled their front nine score, shooting a 43 to finish with an 86 in fifth place for the tournament.

The team of Todd Vanley and Ryan Kennedy bettered their front nine score to finish with an 83 for the round and take fourth place.
