For the second time in as many weeks, Seward County Saints forward Latiq Agard has been named the KJCCC Player of the Week.

Agard earns the award this week after posting back-to-back 20-point efforts against Pratt and Cloud County.

Against Pratt, the sophomore scored his 20 on seven of 13 shooting while ripping down a season-high 13 rebounds even while battling with 6-foot, 11-inch Iliwa Baldwin underneath.

In Saturday's big road win against Cloud County, Agard found his way to the free throw line 16 times, just three short of the school record, while scoring 20 and picking up four rebounds.

Agard and his Saints will take on Dodge City Saturday for Homecoming as they look to lock up home court advantage for the first round of the playoffs.

Saturday will also be Latiq Agard poster night so make sure to come out, enjoy the festivities and grab a free poster of Agard and have him sign it at halftime of the women's game.
