KISMET — It was an ugly game at Southwestern Heights on Friday night when the Mustangs showed several weeks off but still won 48-29 against the Hugoton Eagles. Trenton Specht led with 14 points, Jacob Flores had 9, and Cody Eakes and Cory Ryan each added 8.

Both sides played tough and the Eagles scored first, but it was the only lead they would ever have. The end of the first quarter showed the Mustangs leading 8-4.

With a low-scoring second quarter, the name of the game was rebounds. The Mustangs out rebounded the Eagles with a total 34 rebounds to the Eagles' 17. The halftime score clock point progress was only 17-14 with the Mustangs never giving up their advantage. Mustang Coach Brett Nowack quoted Assistant Coach Jack Johnson repeating, "It was an ugly game, but sometimes ugly is beautiful." Coach Nowack credited "both sides for playing hard."

But, the Eagles couldn't find the basket even in the third quarter where the score progressed to 30-18. The forced turnovers by the Mustangs were key where Oscar Sigala took a large part in the teams' 12 steals.

With the crowd begging for fouls to be called in the final minute of the game, the final quarter took forever with the Eagles making one last attempt at redemption. To no avail, the Eagles suffered a 48-29 loss to the Mustangs.
