FRIDAY AND MONDAY
 'Assassins' takes shot at gun control debate
 Play dives into the mind of a killer
 The play 'Assassins' is a gripping and controversial work that explores the lives of four assassins: John Wilkes Booth, G. I. Louis, Jr., John Lee Bush, and John Paul Jones. The play is a powerful and thought-provoking work that challenges our understanding of violence and the human mind. It is currently running at the LHS theater through Friday and Monday.

Hooker official pleads no contest to killing 2 stray dogs
 A city official has pleaded no contest to the death of two stray dogs. The official, who works for the city's animal control department, was charged with the crime after the dogs were found dead. The official's attorney has argued that the dogs were not properly cared for by the city. The case is currently pending in court.

City says goodbye to outgoing commissioners
 The city of Houston is saying goodbye to its outgoing commissioners. The commissioners, who have served the city for several years, are leaving their positions to make way for new members. The city is holding a farewell event for the commissioners on Thursday, April 11, at 7 p.m. at the city's main office. The event will feature a presentation of appreciation for the commissioners' service and a chance to meet with them. For more information, call the city at 818-3344.
