Policy change coming for prom escorts

High Plains High School is planning to change its policy regarding prom escorts. The school board is considering a new policy that would require students to be accompanied by a parent or guardian during the prom. The current policy allows students to be escorted by a friend or a date. The school board is concerned that the current policy is not providing enough supervision for the students. The new policy would also require students to be accompanied by a parent or guardian during the prom. The school board is currently in the process of reviewing the policy and will make a decision in the next few weeks.
