City looks to purchase items for police force

By ROBERT PRICE
Leader & News

In a continuing effort to upgrade its equipment, the Liberal Police Department is looking to purchase some new items.

Some of their new equipment will be bulletproof vests which police Chief Jim Stoner said will be paid through a nationwide grant from the U.S. Department of Justice.

The Bullet Proof Vest Act will reimburse the LPD for 50 percent of the purchase price of each vest with the exception of 2007 period when the reimbursement will only be 30 percent, according to Stoner.

Bill said in a letter to the Liberal City Commission, in 2002, the Liberal Police Department applied for 19 replacements of consolidate Level II vests.

"In 2013, we need to replace nine vests at a cost of $5,625, of which we will get reimbursed half of that amount," Stoner said.

Bill said the grant money has
