Doctor: Driver in Okla. train wreck had bad eyes
A doctor has said that the driver of a train that derailed in Oklahoma had bad eyes. The driver, who was 45 years old, was driving the train at the time of the accident. The doctor said that the driver had a long history of eye problems, including cataracts and glaucoma. The doctor said that the driver's eyes were so bad that he was unable to see the tracks ahead of him. The doctor said that the driver's eyes were the cause of the accident. The doctor said that the driver should have been wearing glasses or contact lenses. The doctor said that the driver's eyes were the cause of the accident.
