A Nielsen survey says Liberal is third in the nation for eatery growth potential

By KYLE CLAYTON

Liberal, Kan., has been named the third most promising market for new restaurants in the nation, according to a Nielsen survey. The survey, which ranked 100 cities, found that Liberal has a high concentration of young adults, a high percentage of the population who are employed, and a high percentage of the population who are single. These factors, according to Nielsen, are key indicators of a city's potential for restaurant growth.

The regulation, which is effective July 1, 2013, outlines the requirements for day care facilities and the process for licensing. The regulation is intended to ensure the safety and well-being of children in day care facilities and to provide a clear framework for licensing. The regulation covers various aspects of day care, including facility requirements, staff qualifications, and record-keeping. The DHSS is currently accepting comments on the regulation and will hold a public hearing on the matter.
