American Legion suspects it was targeted by IRS

The American Legion in Peryton, Kansas, is suspecting it was targeted by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) after receiving a letter from the agency. The letter, dated August 15, 2013, stated that the Legion's tax return for 2012 was under review. The Legion's executive director, [Name], expressed concern over the timing of the letter, as it coincided with the Legion's annual meeting. He stated that the Legion has always complied with all tax laws and regulations.

Kansas law enforcement cracking down through Labor Day

Law enforcement agencies across Kansas are cracking down on drunk driving through Labor Day. The Kansas Department of Transportation (KDOT) is conducting a series of sobriety checkpoints across the state. The checkpoints will be held from August 26 to September 2, 2013. The goal is to reduce the number of drunk driving accidents and fatalities. KDOT is also conducting a series of roadblocks to enforce the state's zero-tolerance law for drivers under 21 years of age.

NSA admits rare willful surveillance violations

The National Security Agency (NSA) has admitted to rare willful surveillance violations. The agency's Inspector General, [Name], stated that the violations occurred in the context of the agency's ongoing efforts to monitor and intercept communications from foreign targets. The violations were the result of a misunderstanding of the agency's surveillance policies. The agency has taken steps to ensure that such violations do not occur again.
