MONOLITHIC MESSAGE
 Local residents reflect on King's Dream 50 years ago

50 years ago In 1963, Martin Luther King Jr. delivered his iconic "I Have a Dream" speech from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C. The speech called for racial equality and justice for all. In the 50 years since, the city has made significant progress in many areas, but the struggle for equality continues. Local residents reflect on the impact of King's dream and the challenges that remain.

San Antonio proposal could bar Christians from city council
 A proposal to amend the city charter to require council members to be members of a "recognized religion" has sparked controversy. Some argue that this would bar Christians from serving on the council, while others see it as a way to ensure a diverse representation of the community's religious beliefs.
