Judge: Oklahoma can sue government for Obamacare

Change: Two
 A federal judge on the state of Oklahoma has ruled that the state can sue the federal government to stop the implementation of the Affordable Care Act (ACA), also known as Obamacare. The judge, Judge David B. Sentelle, ruled in favor of the state's lawsuit, which was filed in 2010. The ruling is a significant victory for the state and its supporters, as it allows the state to challenge the constitutionality of the ACA. The state argues that the ACA is unconstitutional because it forces individuals to purchase health insurance and imposes a tax on those who do not. The federal government has argued that the ACA is a constitutional exercise of Congress's power to regulate interstate commerce and to tax. The ruling is expected to lead to further legal challenges to the ACA in other states.
