LIBERAL, Kan. — A new ordinance passed by the Liberal City Commission on Tuesday limits the city's ability to use drones.

The ordinance, which was introduced by Councilman Robert Lawrence, prohibits the city from purchasing or operating drones for law enforcement or public safety purposes.

Lawrence said the city should not be responsible for the safety of unmanned aircraft systems, which he believes are more properly the domain of the Federal Aviation Administration.

The ordinance also prohibits the city from issuing permits for the use of drones in public areas.
