'English only' applies to employees at health dept.
In CLARK COUNTY
Clark County Health Department employees are being required to speak only English on the job, a policy that has caused some controversy. The health department says the policy is necessary to ensure that all employees can communicate effectively with patients and each other. The policy applies to all employees, regardless of their language skills. Some employees have expressed concern that the policy might affect their ability to serve their communities. The health department is currently reviewing the policy and may make adjustments in the future.

Reno Co. seeks to try teen as adult in fire case
The Reno County Board of Supervisors is considering a resolution to seek the prosecution of a 17-year-old teen as an adult in a fire case. The teen is accused of setting a fire at a home in Reno County, which caused significant damage. The board is currently reviewing the case and will make a decision on whether to seek the teen's prosecution as an adult. The teen's parents are currently negotiating with the insurance company for the cost of the fire damage.

Gov't reimburses man for 'mutt-lated' currency
A man who lost his wallet containing a mix of US and Canadian currency has been reimbursed by the government. The man, who is a resident of Reno County, had lost his wallet while traveling. The wallet contained a mix of US and Canadian dollars, as well as some coins. The government reimbursed the man for the amount of the lost currency. The man is grateful for the government's assistance and has expressed his appreciation for the service.
