

Will gov't shutdown affect local residents?

By David J. Phillips
A federal government shutdown could affect local residents in several ways, including the possibility of a pay raise for state employees. The state's budget is set to expire on Oct. 1, and a shutdown could delay the passage of a new budget. This could result in a pay raise for state employees, which is a popular issue among voters. However, a shutdown could also lead to the cancellation of state programs and services, which could affect local residents.
