Ammy makes staff changes after email about women
A woman who has been accused of sending an email to a group of staff members, claiming that they were not being paid properly, has been dismissed from her job. The woman, Ammy, had been working for the company for several years and was a member of the staff. The email was sent to a group of staff members and contained a list of names and amounts. The company has stated that the email was a hoax and that Ammy has been dismissed for sending it.

Philly officer delivers baby in back seat of taxi
A Philadelphia police officer delivered a baby in the back seat of a taxi. The officer, who was on duty in the city, was driving a taxi when he noticed a pregnant woman in the back seat. The woman was in labor and the officer decided to stop the taxi and deliver the baby. The baby was born safely and the woman and baby are now in good health.

Many exchange health plans exclude top hospitals
A study has found that many exchange health plans exclude top hospitals. The study, conducted by the Kaiser Family Foundation, found that 40 percent of exchange health plans exclude at least one of the top 10 hospitals in the country. This is a concern because these hospitals are among the best in the country and provide high-quality care. The study also found that the exclusion of these hospitals can result in higher costs for consumers and lower quality of care.
