

Penitents melt in your P.C., not in your hand.
THURSDAY PHONE RING
At Village Phone 11, Boston, 617-452-3230-4660 • Monday - Saturday
11:30 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. • 100% recycled, 100% recyclable • 100% customer service

The odds of your parents or boss by Dr. Don't know the best of ways to give you a gift. They're not the only ones who can't wait to get you the gift of the season. They're the ones who can't wait to get you the gift of the season. They're the ones who can't wait to get you the gift of the season.

Headphones, speakers top gift lists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON

Christmas of '67

The older I get, the more ordinary Christmas seems. Maybe that's what it means to grow up — the glitter and the whimsy of something that was once magical and wild slowly fades. Or maybe it's because on Christmas will ever reach the highs and lows of the one I survived the year I turned 13.

It was the Christmas my dad spent at the hospital. Mom had not made it through the year — again. It was the Christmas I got my first kiss. And it was the Christmas my dad died. It was the Christmas I learned to love and to lose. It was the Christmas I learned to live and to die. It was the Christmas I learned to love and to lose. It was the Christmas I learned to live and to die.

It was the Christmas my dad spent at the hospital. Mom had not made it through the year — again. It was the Christmas I got my first kiss. And it was the Christmas my dad died. It was the Christmas I learned to love and to lose. It was the Christmas I learned to live and to die. It was the Christmas I learned to love and to lose. It was the Christmas I learned to live and to die.

Story by RACHEL COLEMAN • Lander & Times