

Oops. My brain just hit a bad sector.
Thursday Plains Rio
 84 Village Plaza • Denver, CO 80202 • 303.733.4000 • Monday - Saturday
 10:00 AM - 10:00 PM • 10:00 AM - 10:00 PM • 10:00 AM - 10:00 PM

From gateway to the Orient to gateway to the High Plains
HONG KONG to LIBERAL to KU
 Gregory Leung finds his way to Seaward County-Laurence
 Page 3

Christmas tree of bottles
 Page 4

Manhattan staging New Year's Eve ball drop

STILL MISSING!
REWARD $1,000 or $200 cash
 10-10-13 10-10-13 10-10-13

TUESDAY DECEMBER 31, 2013
LEADER & TIMES
 Your daily news & views for 127 years Page 3

Police grapple with enforcing driver texting ban

Manhattan staging New Year's Eve ball drop
 The New Year's Eve ball drop in Manhattan is a tradition that has been celebrated for over a century. This year, the ball will be dropped at 11:59 p.m. on December 31, 2013. The ball is made of 11,881 glass balls, each 1.2 inches in diameter. The ball is suspended from a steel structure that is 147 feet high. The ball is dropped from the top of the structure and falls to the ground in 16.2 seconds. The ball is caught by a net at the bottom of the structure. The ball is then broken into pieces and the pieces are scattered around the base of the structure. The ball is then broken into pieces and the pieces are scattered around the base of the structure.

STILL MISSING!
 A woman named [Name] is missing. She is [Age] years old and has [Description]. If anyone has information about her whereabouts, please call [Phone Number].

Police grapple with enforcing driver texting ban
 Police officers in Denver are struggling to enforce a new law that prohibits drivers from using their cell phones while driving. The law was passed in October 2013 and is intended to reduce the number of accidents caused by distracted driving. However, officers are finding it difficult to identify and cite drivers who are using their phones while driving. Some officers are using radar detectors to identify drivers who are using their phones, while others are using video cameras to capture evidence. The police department is also conducting public awareness campaigns to encourage drivers to avoid using their phones while driving.

Manhattan staging New Year's Eve ball drop
 The New Year's Eve ball drop in Manhattan is a tradition that has been celebrated for over a century. This year, the ball will be dropped at 11:59 p.m. on December 31, 2013. The ball is made of 11,881 glass balls, each 1.2 inches in diameter. The ball is suspended from a steel structure that is 147 feet high. The ball is dropped from the top of the structure and falls to the ground in 16.2 seconds. The ball is caught by a net at the bottom of the structure. The ball is then broken into pieces and the pieces are scattered around the base of the structure. The ball is then broken into pieces and the pieces are scattered around the base of the structure.

STILL MISSING!
 A woman named [Name] is missing. She is [Age] years old and has [Description]. If anyone has information about her whereabouts, please call [Phone Number].

Police grapple with enforcing driver texting ban

Manhattan staging New Year's Eve ball drop

STILL MISSING!

TUESDAY DECEMBER 31, 2013
LEADER & TIMES
 Your daily news & views for 127 years Page 3

Police grapple with enforcing driver texting ban

Manhattan staging New Year's Eve ball drop

STILL MISSING!

REWARD $1,000 or $200 cash

10-10-13 10-10-13 10-10-13

Good morning! Because of the New Year holiday, today's edition and the New Year's Eve paper will be morning deliveries.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Fort Hood shooter Nidal Hasan's jail requests: Bible, cheese

Nidal Hasan, the man charged with the 2009 Fort Hood shooting, has requested a Bible and cheese while in jail. Hasan, 34, is currently held in the Tarrant County Jail in Fort Worth, Texas. He has requested a Bible because he is a Muslim and believes in the Bible. He has also requested cheese because he likes to eat it. Hasan's requests have caused some controversy because they are not typical requests for someone in jail. However, the jail officials have agreed to provide Hasan with a Bible and cheese. Hasan's requests have also caused some controversy because they are not typical requests for someone in jail. However, the jail officials have agreed to provide Hasan with a Bible and cheese.

Fort Hood shooter Nidal Hasan's jail requests: Bible, cheese
 Nidal Hasan, the man charged with the 2009 Fort Hood shooting, has requested a Bible and cheese while in jail. Hasan, 34, is currently held in the Tarrant County Jail in Fort Worth, Texas. He has requested a Bible because he is a Muslim and believes in the Bible. He has also requested cheese because he likes to eat it. Hasan's requests have caused some controversy because they are not typical requests for someone in jail. However, the jail officials have agreed to provide Hasan with a Bible and cheese. Hasan's requests have also caused some controversy because they are not typical requests for someone in jail. However, the jail officials have agreed to provide Hasan with a Bible and cheese.