Judge believes local tax collector signed fraudulent tax returns
A judge has ruled that a local tax collector signed fraudulent tax returns for several years, according to a report from the IRS. The judge found that the collector, who worked for the IRS for several years, had signed returns for thousands of taxpayers. The judge also found that the collector had received kickbacks from taxpayers who had paid more than they owed. The judge ordered the collector to pay back the IRS for the amount of the kickbacks. The collector has appealed the judge's ruling.
