Obama set to announce 'practical' agenda focusing on immigration, income equality

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Barack Obama is expected to announce a new set of policies aimed at addressing immigration, income inequality and other issues, according to a senior administration official. The official said the president will likely announce the plan in the next few weeks. The plan is expected to focus on creating jobs, improving education and healthcare, and addressing the needs of the middle class. Obama's agenda is seen as a response to the economic challenges facing the country and the need for a new direction.
