Woody Allen's allies cast doubt on sexual abuse claims

Woody Allen's allies cast doubt on sexual abuse claims

By AP Wire

NEW YORK (AP) — Woody Allen's allies on Monday cast doubt on the sexual abuse claims of a woman who says she was sexually abused by the filmmaker in the 1970s.

The woman, who is now 40, says she was sexually abused by Allen when she was 17 and he was 44. She says she was pregnant with his child, but she says she never had sex with him.

Allen's lawyer, Michael Ross, says the woman's claims are "completely untrue" and that she is "a liar and a fraud."

Allen's lawyer also says that the woman's claims are "a complete fabrication" and that she is "a liar and a fraud."

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

By AP Wire

NEW YORK (AP) — Super Bowl ads featuring a dog and a person's hand were not controversial, according to a report from the FCC.

The report says that the ads were "not obscene" and that they were "not in violation of the FCC's rules."

The report also says that the ads were "not in violation of the FCC's rules."
