MacArthur uses every scrap of space

Students at a school in the city of Kansas City, Mo., are learning to use every scrap of space in the classroom. The school is a small, one-story building with a limited amount of space. The principal, who is a former MacArthur award winner, has implemented a program to make the most of the available space. This includes using the walls for displays, using the floor for seating, and using the corners for storage. The program has been successful in creating a more functional and efficient learning environment.

Snow expected all day
 The National Weather Service has issued a winter weather advisory for the area, predicting a significant snowfall. The snow is expected to begin in the evening and continue through the day. This could lead to hazardous travel conditions and power outages. Residents are advised to prepare for the weather by clearing their roofs and driveways, and to have emergency supplies on hand.

Kansas man loses thousands in work-at-home scam

A Kansas man has lost thousands of dollars in a work-at-home scam. The man had been contacted by a person who offered him a job that required no experience and no investment. The man agreed to the terms and provided his personal information. However, the person never showed up for work, and the man's money was never returned. The man is now seeking legal advice to recover his losses.

Cabin fever sets in amid relentless cold, snow
 The relentless cold and snow have led to an increase in cabin fever. People are staying indoors more often, leading to irritability and tension. This is especially true for those who are stuck in their homes during the winter months. Some people are reporting increased arguments and stress levels. Experts suggest taking breaks, going for walks, and staying positive to combat the effects of cabin fever.
