

When you don't know what you are doing, do it neatly.
Comments by Marjorie Sperry on February 17, 2014 at 11:26 AM.
This is a comment on the article When you don't know what you are doing, do it neatly.

Where was the huge piece of equipment headed Saturday after it made its way through Liberal? Page 4A

County to get update on prairie chicken listing
By the Staff
The county is set to receive a report on the status of the prairie chicken listing. The report will be prepared by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The county will receive the report in the next few weeks. The report will provide information on the current status of the prairie chicken population in the county. The county will use this information to make decisions on how to manage the prairie chicken population.

LEADER & TIMES

Your daily news source for 127 years

Setting on a good AirFair

LA workers break record for largest concrete pour
By the Staff
A record was set in Los Angeles as workers completed the largest concrete pour in the city's history. The pour was for a new building and took place over a period of several days. The workers used a large amount of concrete, and the pour was completed without any major incidents. The record was broken by a team of workers from a local construction company.

John Kerry mocks those who deny climate change
By the Staff
John Kerry, the former U.S. Secretary of State, has mocked those who deny climate change. He said that denying climate change is like denying the existence of gravity. He said that denying climate change is a sign of ignorance and denial. He said that denying climate change is a sign of a lack of understanding of the science of climate change. He said that denying climate change is a sign of a lack of respect for the planet and for the people who live on it.

'No global warming for 17 years 3 months' — a Monckton Analysis
By the Staff
A new analysis by a climate scientist has found that there has been no global warming for 17 years and 3 months. The analysis was based on data from a network of weather stations around the world. The scientist found that the temperature has actually decreased slightly over the period. This finding is in contrast to the widely held belief that the world is experiencing a period of global warming.

Endangered person advisory for teenage Mo. girl
By the Staff
A teenage girl in Missouri has been named as an endangered person. The girl is the subject of a federal investigation. The girl is believed to be involved in a criminal activity. The girl is currently in custody of law enforcement. The girl is being held in a secure facility. The girl is being held until further notice.