Natural gas offers value as propane prices soar
Liberal, Kan. (AP) — Propane prices have soared in recent weeks, and many consumers are turning to natural gas as a more affordable alternative. Natural gas offers a significant value as propane prices continue to rise. Many consumers are switching to natural gas for their home heating needs. The price of propane has increased significantly in recent months, making it a costly option for many households. Natural gas, on the other hand, is a more stable and affordable energy source. This shift in consumer behavior is expected to continue as propane prices remain high.

Kan. students lobby against sex education bills
Lawmakers are set to vote on bills that would require sex education in schools. A group of students is lobbying against these bills, arguing that they are not appropriate for students. The students are concerned that the bills would force them to learn about sex and relationships at a young age. They believe that parents should be responsible for teaching their children about sex. The students are planning to meet with lawmakers and express their concerns.

Five-year anniversary of Obama's stimulus renews partisan fight over jobs, economy
The five-year anniversary of President Obama's stimulus package has reignited a partisan debate over the economy and jobs. Republicans are arguing that the stimulus package was wasteful and did not create enough jobs. Democrats are arguing that the package was necessary to get the economy back on track. The debate is expected to continue as lawmakers prepare for the upcoming election.

Inmate released after more than 4 years in prison
A man who had been in prison for more than four years has been released. The man was charged with a crime in 2009 but was never convicted. He was released because the state failed to prosecute the case. The man's release has caused controversy, as some believe he should have remained in prison. The case highlights the importance of timely prosecution in the criminal justice system.
