10 women line up Tuesday for International Pancake Day Race

Pancake Day is a tradition in the United Kingdom, where people eat pancakes for breakfast every day. In 2014, the tradition is being celebrated in a unique way in the Pacific Northwest. Ten women are competing in the International Pancake Day Race on Tuesday, Feb. 25. The race is a 5K run, but instead of running, the participants are eating pancakes while they run. The race is organized by the Pacific Northwest Pancake Day Race Committee. The women competing are: [List of names]

Washington girl, 11, shoots and kills cougar tracking her brother

A 11-year-old girl from Washington has become a national hero after she shot and killed a cougar that was tracking her brother. The girl, whose name is not being disclosed, was on a hiking trip with her family in the Cascade Mountains. She saw a cougar and fired her rifle, hitting it in the chest. The cougar was later found dead. The girl's actions have been widely praised by the public and the media.

California couple in $10M gold find may owe gov't about half, report says

The San Francisco Chronicle reports that the find is a notable event under a 1993 federal court ruling that holds a "discovery" is taxable the year it was discovered. The couple, who were on a hiking trip, found the gold in a remote area of California. The report says that the couple may owe the government about half of the value of the gold. The couple is reportedly planning to sue the government to recover the tax. The case is expected to go to trial in the near future.
