Feds, states reach agreement
The federal government and 25 states have reached a landmark agreement on a new federal tax law that would allow states to raise their own taxes on income, sales and property taxes. The agreement is a significant step toward resolving a long-standing dispute between the federal government and states over the issue of state tax autonomy.

Calif. beef recall may affect area stores
A recall of beef products from California may affect area stores. The recall is due to concerns about the safety of the beef products. The recall includes beef products from several major brands, including those sold at local area stores.

Brownback touts policies on education, record state revenues in case for re-election
Gov. Sam Brownback is touting his policies on education and record state revenues in his campaign for re-election. He is highlighting his efforts to improve education and the success of the state's economy under his leadership.

Bright Futures supports bond
The Bright Futures program supports a bond issue. The bond issue is intended to fund various state programs and services. The Bright Futures program is a key component of the state's education system.

ObamaCare Band-Aid? Millions potentially exempted from individual mandate through 2016
A new provision in the Affordable Care Act (ACA) may exempt millions of people from the individual mandate through 2016. This provision is seen as a potential "band-aid" to address concerns about the ACA's impact on certain populations.

Public meeting to discuss bond March 20
