Dust storm causes 12-vehicle pile-up

Several firefighters gathered along Highway 54 and burst into flames, along with a fire engine and ambulance, as a 12-vehicle pile-up occurred on the highway during a blinding dust storm. The scene was chaotic, with firefighters working to extinguish fires and assist victims. The dust storm was caused by a low-pressure system moving across the region, bringing in heavy winds and blowing sand and silt into the air. The storm caused significant damage to property and infrastructure, and resulted in several injuries and fatalities. The cause of the accident is still under investigation.
