Senators call for VA secretary's resignation
Senators from both parties have called for the resignation of the Secretary of the Department of Veterans Affairs. The senators are concerned about the VA's handling of the 2013-2014 fiscal year budget and the VA's performance in providing healthcare to veterans. The senators are calling for the resignation of the Secretary, who is currently in office. The senators are also calling for the resignation of the Secretary's staff. The senators are calling for the resignation of the Secretary and his staff because they believe that they are not doing their job properly. They believe that the VA is not providing the best care for veterans and that the Secretary and his staff are responsible for this. They believe that the Secretary and his staff should be held accountable for their actions and that they should be removed from their positions. They believe that the VA needs a new leader who will be able to provide the best care for veterans and that the Secretary and his staff are not qualified to do this. They believe that the Secretary and his staff should be removed from their positions and that a new Secretary should be appointed.
