

Seward County Health Dept. can help with vaccines for people of all ages

It's not just for babies and young children, but for people of all ages, the Seward County Health Department offers free vaccines for people of all ages. This includes people who are 65 and older, pregnant women, people with chronic health conditions, and people who travel to other countries.

Seward County Health Department is open to all ages in the county. For more information, call 781-8288 or visit www.sewardcountyks.gov.

Pregnant women gain new options under health law

NEWSPAPER (The Sun) — Pregnant women who are looking for a safe way to end their pregnancy have a new option thanks to a federal law that took effect on Monday.

Seeing the face of Clinton County, K.S.