Members of the graduating class of 2014 at Saint Francis University in Terre Haute, Ind., were honored by the school's marching band. The band played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "The Lord's Prayer" for the graduates. The ceremony took place on the school's campus.

Family tests Kan. water law, claims impairment
A family in Kansas is testing the state's water law, claiming that the law is unconstitutional. The family, who own a large farm, has filed a lawsuit with the state supreme court. They argue that the law, which requires farmers to pay for water rights, is an unconstitutional taking of property without compensation.

Kansas considers revised permit for coal plant
The Kansas Department of Environment and Natural Resources is considering a revised permit for a coal plant. The plant, which is located near the town of Liberal, has been the subject of controversy because of its potential impact on the environment. The revised permit would require the plant to implement more stringent environmental controls.
